

Asian Pacific Journal of Disease Management

Volume 7 Number 3-4 October 2013

Contents

Originals

Fumihiko Omasu, Makiko Hayashi

The effect of perceived body shapes on the desire to be thin in fifth and sixth graders in elementary school

25-33

Naoko Kiriyaama-Suga, Kouichi Fukunaga, Yuko Oguma

Effects of a rotating-shift schedule on nurses' vigilance as measured by the Psychomotor Vigilance Task

35-43

Kyoko Yoshioka-Maeda, Shoji Sakano

Factors associated with Japanese public health nurses' support for the mentally ill person who was the target of neighbors' claims to go to the hospital: a cross-sectional survey

45-52

Kyoko Yoshioka-Maeda, Shoji Sakano

A Clarification of the characteristics of the mentally disabled persons who needed to be psychiatrically hospitalized as a trigger of the neighbors' claims: a cross-sectional survey

53-59

Edited by the JSHSS Editorial Committee

Managing Editor: S. Matsuda

Editor: T. Fukuda, T. Hosaka, S. Ikeda, A. Kobayashi, M. Kobayashi, G. L. Mayer,
M. Moriyama and T. Tashiro

The official journal of the Japan Society of Health Support Science
<http://www.jshss.org>